

Auto Enrolment for new start ups

All employers will need to put in place a qualifying workplace pension scheme which will automatically enrol certain workers into the scheme and make contributions.

If you are employing staff for the first time after 1 October 2017, your legal duties begin on the day your first member of staff starts work.

BHP Corporate FP's package for new businesses to ensure compliance with the legislation includes:

Advice on a recommended qualifying workplace pension scheme	✓
Pension scheme set up	✓
Information for your employees about why things are changing with auto enrolment, what you are doing as an employer and details of the scheme in the form of a group presentation or written communication	✓
Provision of statutory letters	✓
Advice and training on implementing auto enrolment into your internal processes	✓
Completion of your certification and declaration of compliance	✓
